REFERENCE

LR II-11(24)/59 of the Ministry of Labour & Employment, Government of India, New Delhi, dated 28th September, 1959

ISSUES

- (1) Scales of pay of clerical staff, despatchers, peons and drivers;
- (2) Dearness allowance to the clerical staff, despatchers, peons and drivers;
- (3) Acting allowance for working in posts carrying higher scale of pay, rate and conditions of eligibility;
- (4) Privilege leave and sick leave;
- (5) Date of effect.

This dispute coming on for hearing this day, upon perusing the reference, the claim and counter statements and the other material papers to this dispute, and upon hearing the arguments of Sri V. G. Row of Messrs. Row and Reddy, advocate for the union, and of Sri S. S. Sivaprakasa, advocate on behalf of the management, the Tribunal passed the following.

AWARD

This reference, made by the Central Government, New Delhi, raises for adjudication five matters in controversy between the Hercules Insurance Company Ltd., Madras on the one hand and their employees on the other. The employees of this company are 30 clerks, 3 peons, and one driver. The company was started about the year 1935 with a paid-up capital of 9 lakhs, which in the year 1946 was increased to 12 lakhs. In 1954, Rs. 12 lakhs of bonus shares were issued, so that in that year the paid-up capital rose to 24 lakhs. However, it would appear that the company did not declare any dividend in favour of the shareholders during the first 9 years of its existence, and on the other hand, during that period the shareholders were making contributions towards the establishment expenses of the company. Nevertheless, the company has been doing good business; and in the counter statement filed by the company in this reference, there is no denial of its prosperity or its capacity to meet the reasonable demands of the employees. In fact, during the enquiry in this reference, no objection was put forward by the management on grounds of financial incapacity.

2. The first of the issues to be considered in this reference is the scales of pay of clerical staff, despatchers, peons and drivers. The clerical staff consists of 2 categories, A and B. The management has raised the objection that the clerks of the A category or the supervisory staff are not represented by this union and that their demand is not the subject matter of this reference. This objection is not well-founded. It is clear from the reference that the scales of pay of the entire clerical staff is referred for adjudication, and it is immaterial, so long as they are parties to this reference, whether or not they are represented by this union. On the question of wages, there has been a considerable measure of agreement between the parties, which was reached even during the conciliation proceedings before the Labour Officer. According to the management, the existing scales of pay for these 2 categories are: clerks A Rs. 130—7½—160—10—210—E.B.—12½—310; and for clerks B Rs. 65—5—85—7½—160—E.B.—10—210. It is stated that these scales were introduced by the management only in January, 1958, to which the workers did not assent. During the conciliation proceedings, the management agreed to a further increase in the existing scales of pay, and for clerks A the management offered the following scale 135—7½—165—10—215—E.B.—12½—315. As stated above, these clerks are also parties to this reference and it makes no difference whether they are members of the union representing the workers in this reference. The offer made by the management appears to be fair and reasonable, and no case is made out for further enhancement; and so, for clerks A, the higher scales offered by the management is adopted.

3. As regards clerks B, according to the union, the higher scales of pay offered by the management was Rs. 70—6—100—7½—175—10—215—E.B.—10—255. But according to the management, as stated in their counter, they offered and are still prepared to offer the following scale, namely, Rs. 70—6—100—8—140—10—190—E.B.—12½—265. This scale would seem to be even more favourable to the workers, and they are prepared to accept it; and so, for clerks B, the following scales of pay will be adopted, namely, Rs. 70—6—100—8—140—10—190—E.B.—12½—265.

4. As regards the other categories of employees, namely, the despatchers, peons and drivers, the existing scales are these: (1) Despatchers Rs. 55—2—75, (2) Sub-staff or peons Rs. 15—1—35—1½—50 (3) Drivers Rs. 40—2—56—2½—86. As regards despatchers, it is admitted that their work consists mainly in despatching tapals, and they are not expected to possess the higher qualifications of clerks. They are ordinarily appointed by promotion from the sub-staff. That being so, the contention on behalf of the union that the despatchers may be merged into the category of clerks is not justified. The existing practice of promotion from the sub-staff, subject to necessary qualification and fitness, will continue. As regards their pay, the management in their counter have suggested the scale Rs. 60—3—90. This scale seems to be very fair, and there is no reason for increasing it further, and so, it will be adopted. As regards sub-staff or peons, the management has agreed to an increase to Rs. 25—2—55—3—70. The rate of annual increment as well as the maximum are certainly reasonable, but the starting pay of Rs. 25 is rather low. In the city of Madras, the minimum basic wage for any industry, so far as I know, is Rs. 28; and the starting pay will be atleast that amount. And so, for this category of employees, the revised scales will be Rs. 28—2—56—3—71. As regards the drivers, the management has offered Rs. 50—3—80—4—100. After all, there is only one driver whose present salary is Rs. 56; and even otherwise, the starting pay of Rs. 50 cannot said to be low. And so, the said scale will be adopted for the drivers.

5. Shri V. G. Rao appearing for the workers then contended that in fitting the present incumbents into the revised scales of wages, the usual service weightage increments should be given. For very good reasons, service weightage is usually granted whenever there is a substantial revision of the existing scales of wages. It is contended for the management that this claim of the workers is without foundation and misconceived. I do not think it is so. Though the existing incremental scales were introduced by the management only in January, 1958, it would appear that even during the prior years, the management has been paying its employees some increments every year, but which were not uniform. Taking that fact into consideration, the demand of the union that atleast one increment should be granted for every 3 years of service may be a little too much. In the circumstances of this case, I think it would be enough if the workers are granted as service weightage one increment for every 5 years of service. It was contended for the management that the service weightage is not the subject matter of the reference. But certainly, it arises as a concomitant of the wage revision, and as incidental to that question it can be considered under Section 10 clause 4 of the Act.

6. The second issue raises the question of dearness allowance payable to these employees. The existing rates of dearness allowance are: (1) clerks upto Rs. 100—65 per cent of basic pay with a minimum of Rs. 65; for over Rs. 100—32½ per cent; the maximum dearness allowance being Rs. 100; (2) for despatchers, sub-staff and drivers, a flat allowance of Rs. 47-8-0 per month. It is admitted that these rates were fixed in the year 1957 when the cost of living index was about 380. At present, the index has gone upto over 440. This by itself would suffice to make out a case for a corresponding increase in the rates. That being so, I think it would be fair and reasonable to fix the following rates for the clerks: upto Rs. 100—70 per cent of basic pay with a minimum of Rs. 70; for over Rs. 100—35 per cent; the maximum dearness allowance being Rs. 110. For the employees namely despatchers, peons and drivers the present flat system will continue, but the amount is increased to Rs. 55 per month. There is, in my view, no case made out for a larger increase in the case of either of those groups.

7. The third issue is the acting allowance for working in posts carrying higher scale of pay. This claim will arise when an employee is asked to act in a higher post and shoulder greater responsibility. According to the management, that will arise when occasionally the cashier is asked to act in the place of the accountant, when they would pay him an additional sum of Rs. 25 per month. But it is obvious that if an employee is asked to act in a higher post, he must be paid the higher emoluments pertaining to that post. That that should be the correct principle is not disputed by the learned counsel for the management. But it is necessary to fix certain minimum number of days of service in the higher post before the worker could become eligible for claiming the emoluments attached to that post. It is agreed on both sides that the claim will be allowed only if the employee acts in that post for a continuous period of 15 days or a total period of 15 days during any calendar month.

8. The next issue is the privilege leave and sick leave. At present, the available privilege leave is 2 weeks upto 5 years of service and 4 weeks for over 5 years of service, per annum, with accumulations upto 4 weeks and 8 weeks respectively; and the sick leave is 12 days per year for all. The demand of the union is that the employees should be given privilege leave at the rate of one month for every 11 months of service, without any distinction as to the period of service, and that they should also be granted sick leave at the rate of one month for every completed year of service. This demand is firmly resisted by the management on the ground that the existing leave is more than adequate and compares very favourably with leave facilities available in other companies carrying on the same business. I am not convinced that the existing privilege leave for employees with 5 years and more of service, namely 4 weeks per annum, is unreasonable or inadequate calling for any revision and so, that will stand. But, as regards the employees upto 5 years of service, the present rate of 2 weeks per annum appears to me clearly inadequate. The need for leave would be the same irrespective of the period of service. There is no compelling principle to maintain that distinction; and so, that distinction will be abolished and in the case of all the employees the privilege leave will be 4 weeks per annum with accumulation upto 8 weeks. As regards sick leave, the existing facility of 12 days per year has not been shown to be inadequate. Of course, in really deserving cases, the management may exercise their discretion and enlarge this period as in fact they say they have done in the case of one worker during this year. The present leave of 12 days will be allowed to accumulate upto 24 days.

9. The last question to be considered is from what date this award should be given effect to. The contention of the union is that this award should take effect from the date on which they presented their charter of demand, namely 26th September, 1958. But it does not necessarily follow that merely because a charter of demand is presented, the award should be given effect to from that date. From what date the award should take effect would depend upon the circumstance of each case; and in the absence of any special circumstances, the award may be directed to take effect from the date of the reference. But, in the counter-statement, the management has agreed that the date of effect should commence from 1st January, 1959. It will be seen that the union presented no less than 26 demands, in respect of all of which they have not succeeded. Even in this reference, on the important question relating to the wages, only the scales offered by the management have been accepted. Therefore, there is no circumstance which would justify the bringing into effect of the award from a date anterior to the one proposed by the management. That is certainly liberal, and I adopt that date, that is, 1st January, 1959, as the date from which this award will come into effect.

10. But, in the course of the discussion, some difficulty was expressed by the management in giving such effect to this award in one respect, namely, the service weightage. If service weightage is allowed as from 1st January, 1959, then the management will be liable to pay back wages on that basis. Their contention is that they agreed to 1st January, 1959 as the effective date of the award without service weightage. In fact, in their counter-statement, they have contended that the claim for service weightage is without foundation and misconceived and has not even been referred for adjudication. That being so, it cannot be stated that there is no justification for their contention that the award contemplated to be given effect to from 1st January, 1959 was an award without service weightage. It is not clear from the counter-statement that they agreed to that date whatever award might be passed in this reference. In view of that doubt, it is not fair to impose this service weightage on the management with the retrospective effect.

I therefore hold that except in respect of service weightage, in all other respects the award will take effect from 1st January, 1959.

11. That would mean as regards the fitment of the workers in the revised scales of pay: the workers will be given their usual increment under the old scales as on 1st January, 1959; on the basis of their wages as on that date they will be fitted into the revised scales at the appropriate levels; if in the case of any worker the present wage does not exactly fit into the revised scales, he would be allowed to draw at the next higher level; if any worker is already drawing more wages than he would get under the revised scales, that will not be disturbed; and after the workers are so fitted into the revised scales, they will be allowed extra increments as per the revised scales at the rate of one increment for every 5 years of completed service as on 1st January, 1960 (their service being counted upto that date) in addition to the increment for which they would have become eligible under the revised scales.

12. There will be an award in the above terms.
